

Pistons for medium and high pressure pumps

Pistons for medium and high pressure pumps

Steelceram manufactures custom-made parts in alumina ideal for medium and high pressure pumps for the industrial sector. In applications where high durability is required after many cycles of use, high hardness and high precision are required. Technical ceramics are ideal for their durability and resistance to chemical and abrasive agents in the agricultural, hydro washing and chemical industries.

